Date: December 13, 2006
To: Single State Registrants
Subject: Repeal of Single State Registration

Congress repealed the Single State Registration System (SSRS) effective January 1, 2007. The SSRS will be replaced with the Unified Carrier Registration System (UCRS); however, formal rules including a fee structure have not yet been adopted to implement UCRS.

Until there are UCRS rules and fees, SSRS credentials will not be issued. We will notify you when UCRS is in place or if Congress passes any legislation to extend SSRS. Until that time, you must:

- Continue to register vehicles through IRP or your County Tag Office
- Continue to display current license plates
- Maintain proof of registration in any vehicle that is operated
- Maintain proof of insurance in any vehicle that is operated

We apologize for this delayed notice. It was hoped that before Congress adjourned this year, legislation would be passed to extend SSRS through 2007.
